

WHAT IS KLEK?: KLEK 102.5 F.M. is the first and only minority owned radio station in Jonesboro, Arkansas. KLEK is owned by the 501c3 nonprofit organization The Voice of Arkansas Minority Advocacy Council. KLEK is classified by the Federal Communications Commission as a noncommercial educational radio station which means KLEK must serve an educational purpose to the community.

WHY DO WE DO WHAT WE DO?

We are committed to empowering the citizens of Jonesboro to enhance their quality of life through educational and entertainment programming that provides the link to current community affairs, events, and issues. This is not just our mission statement but the core of everything we do.

WHAT'S IN A NAME (KLEK)? K-L-E-K is our call letters. A radio station's call letters are the legal name of the radio station with the FCC. The first letter K is because the station is located west of the Mississippi River. By Federal Communication Commission (FCC) rules, all stations west of the Mississippi River must begin with K. LEK stands for Lovie Edmond Kale, mother of station founder and General Manager LaGanzie Kale, whose influence upon us cannot be placed into words. It is because of her love and teachings that we named the station after her to carry on her legacy and memory. Mrs. Kale survived breast cancer for 22 years after an initial diagnosis in 1990 (her husband and LaGanzie's father Herman Kale was simultaneously diagnosed with prostate cancer and quickly passed away). Mrs. Kale sadly succumbed to the effects of the cancer March 20, 2012.
